Faculty of Biology

The Faculty of Biology at the University of Gdańsk has a rich history intertwined with the university since its inception in 1970.

Initially taught at different faculties, biology eventually found its home at the Faculty of Biology, encompassing various fields like environmental, molecular, and marine biology, as well as biotechnology.

Today, the Faculty of Biology offers a wide range of academic programmes in Biology, Ecology, and Microbiology. It can also grant postdoctoral degrees in Biological Sciences.

With 11 departments, 23 laboratories, and two research and education stations, the faculty provides an extensive platform for scientific exploration.

Wita Stwosza 63, 80-308 Gdańsk
Dean: dr hab. Beata Grobelna, prof. UG

Faculty of Chemistry

The Faculty of Chemistry at the University of Gdańsk has a fascinating history, dating back to 1945 when chemistry education began at the Teacher Training College. Officially founded in 1991, the faculty now comprises 11 departments and hosts 30 research laboratories.

With the authority to grant postdoctoral degrees in chemical sciences and doctoral degrees in disciplines like biochemistry and environmental protection, the faculty upholds high academic standards. It also has the privilege to nominate professors of chemical sciences.

Since 2013, the faculty has been situated in a modern and impressive facility spanning 29,000 square metres on the Oliwa campus. This state-of-the-art scientific and educational hub boasts 24 student laboratories, a technology hall, 190 scientific laboratories, and a complex of contemporary lecture halls. It stands as one of Europe's most advanced facilities, providing an exceptional environment for scientific exploration and education.

Intercollegiate Faculty of Biotechnology of the University of Gdańsk & the Medical University of Gdańsk

The Intercollegiate Faculty of Biotechnology UG&MUG is a unique institution in Poland created by two universities. This leads to the interdisciplinary character of the conducted research and teaching by combining biomedical and biomolecular issues and their applications in biotechnology for health and life quality. The intercollegiate character of the Faculty allows for the use of infrastructure and expertise provided by two universities, and therefore combining the best international standards of research with the highest quality of teaching.

Research Vessel 'Oceanograf'

The Faculty of Oceanography and Geography owns 'Oceanograf' – a specialised research vessel whose home port is Gdynia. This is one of the most modern research vessels operating in the Baltic Sea region, and it can also be used for commercial purposes.

The catamaran is fully equipped for interdisciplinary research in the fields of environment and wildlife of the Baltic Sea.

Inside the ship are laboratories, observatories, and seminar rooms for students. A variety of research is carried out using the ship, including seabed bathymetry, chemical, or geological research.

Seal Rescue Center in Hel

The Seal Center is part of the Professor Krzysztof Skóra Marine Station belonging to the University of Gdańsk. It's a great idea for a one-day trip to visit the Hel Peninsula.

UG Main Library

The University of Gdańsk's Library is both an academic unit and a hub for the University's information system. Located in Gdańsk-Oliwa, it is the main component of the academic library system, supported by six specialised libraries. Accessible to all, it offers a scientific library and a public centre for the wider community.

Important! In the UG main Library, you will find the Welcome Center! (see page 59)

University of Gdańsk Career Office

Career Services were established at University of Gdansk in 2000. We act as an interaction platform for students and employers and strongly believe that this interaction benefits both sides on many different levels. Cooperating with employers and organisations, Career Office builds and develops links to job market, hoping to bring students some new opportunities and positively impact their future career.

Cooperation and International Relations Office

UG International Office is engaged in various programmes which are vital for University international cooperation. Among a variety of grants and project opportunities, IO is involved in the following:

- EU and non-EU Erasmus+ Programme, which encompasses mobility for Students and Academic and Administrative Staff (incoming to UG or outgoing from UG), as well as internships for UG Students
- NAWA governmental scholarships (Polish National Agency for Academic Exchange)
- Visiting Professores Programme

Welcome Centre

Our Welcome Centre, which is a part of the International Office, is designed for every international student, academic employee, and researcher as a place where we will advise you on how to prepare for your stay in Gdańsk, what to do upon arrival, and where to go; we will explain internal procedures and help you find answers to any questions you might have.

We will also give you all sorts of tips on finding accommodation, emergency and other information about staying on our campuses. Our mission is to raise the standard of service to foreigners, to make it easier for foreigners to function in Polish and university realities, as well as to introduce foreigners to Polish culture and to strengthen the image of UG as an open and foreign-friendly university.

Welcome Centre is located in UG Main Library R055.

Office hours:
Monday - Friday 8:30 am - 3:30 pm

Legalisation of your stay in Poland

In the Welcome Centre we can help you with Legalisation of your stay in Poland!

EU citizens don't need a visa to study in Poland. They are allowed to stay without any official permission for up to 3 months.

Those willing to stay longer have to obtain a certificate of temporary residence for an EU citizen from Voivodship Office in Gdansk.

Legalisation of stay in Poland - EU Countries

- EU, EFTA and OECD citizens are obliged to register their residence within 3 months from the day of arrival to Poland.
- Place: Pomorski Urząd Wojewódzki w Gdańsku 21/27 Okopowa street Gdańsk, room 93 (entrance from Rzeźnicka street)
- Payment: free of charge
- Required documents:
 - 4 filled application forms; 4 copies of passport or ID;
 - 4 copies of accommodation registration issued by City Hall;
 - confirmation of registration at the University of Gdańsk (issued by Dean's Office);
 - copy of insurance policy, e.g. European Health Insurance Card (EHIC);
 - confirmation of financial means;

Non-EU/EEA citizens may enter Poland with a valid travel document (passport) and a visa (if required/subject to the country of origin). The visas can be obtained from the Polish consulate in the student's country of residence.

Students are obligated to apply for a visa for the whole period of their stay in Poland.

Legalisation of stay in Poland – non-EU Countries

- Application form for the temporary residence permit;
- Passport copy;
- Confirmation of registration at the University of Gdańsk – Dean's Office;
- Confirmation of payment for studies – International Office;
- Health insurance covering treatment in Poland (If it's issued in language other than Polish, it has to be translated to Polish by sworn translator);
- Confirmation of sufficient financial support.

Send an email to welcome@ug.edu.pl for assistance in applying for a residence permit.

Health Insurance

EU students are required to obtain a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) issued in their home country valid for the whole period of their stay at the UG. For more information please visit the web page of Polish National Health Fund \(NFZ\).

Non-EU students are required to obtain commercial health insurance, valid for the whole period of their stay at the UG; it must provide coverage for medical expenses, treatment and assistance in transportation that might be required in emergencies. Another option is getting a Polish National Insurance (NFZ), which will provide you with complete health assistance.

For more information please contact welcome@ug.edu.pl

Students organisations

There are various student science clubs you can join!

Welcome to the University of Gdańsk, international students!

We would like to warmly invite you to join the events organised by our student organisation – ISA UG, the International Students Association. We are here to make your experience of studying in our beautiful city not only educational, but also full of unforgettable adventures and great memories.

What do we do? We organise a variety of events, excursions and get-togethers for you to meet new people, discover the charms of the city and spend time in a unique way. We can also offer you the chance to take part in the Mentor Programme, which is a fantastic opportunity to have on-site support from an experienced student who can help you find your feet in a new environment, answer questions, and share their knowledge.

Together we create a community where everyone has the chance to integrate, develop their interests and learn about other cultures. If you want your adventure at the University of Gdańsk to be unforgettable, follow ISA UG on social media, join our events and let yourself be carried away by the multicoloured world of possibilities!

We look forward to welcoming you with open arms,
ISA UG team

Religious Studies Science Club

of the University of Gdańsk is a small and welcoming group of enthusiasts aiming at learning everything there is to know about religious phenomena. We engage in various activities to both educate ourselves and our contemporaries in matters of science, broaden our horizons, and obtain valuable experience.

Interdepartmental Science Club Neptun TV is a student television set up in 2019 on the initiative of students of Journalism and Social Communication and Knowledge of Film and Audiovisual Culture.

Our regular programmes, event reports, interviews, and live broadcasts are available on the Neptun TV channel on YouTube.

The Logistics Students' Club

gathers students from the University of Gdańsk who are in love with logistics and looking for opportunities to put their theoretical knowledge gained at the University into practice. These are achieved mainly through meetings with logistics managers, study visits to companies, conference trips, and the conferences organised by us: 'Sopot logistics workshops' and 'Logistics in theory and practice'.

Radio MORS – Mega Otwarte Radio Studenckie

(Radio MORS – The Mega Open Student's Radio)
Naukowe Koło Radiowców (Student's Club of Radio Journalists)

Join the group of enthusiastic people creating our academic radio station. You can run news services in English, be a reporter, or host a radio show. If you want to be a journalist, Radio MORS is a good place to start!

Here at the Students' Science Club for Chemistry we strive to bring together people of all backgrounds through our love of science. We offer an opportunity to take part in various scientific conferences, participate in competitions as well as organise events such as displays or workshops that help promote chemistry to the public.

LINGUANA Specialized Translation Research Club is a place for all students interested in specialised translation, people with a lot of energy, ideas, and a quirky sense of humour. If that's your cup of tea and your level of Polish makes it possible for you to participate in translation projects, feel free to check us out. The Lizard doesn't bite!

Koło Tłumaczeń Ustnych SYMULTANA

provides interpreting services for some of the events at the University of Gdańsk. On a daily basis, we meet with the members to practice our skills, develop our technique, and correct our interpretations.

For Erasmus+ students, we can offer training in the use of simultaneous interpreting equipment such as the booth, and practice taking notes for consecutive interpreting. We are able to show the work of an interpreter from behind the scenes, and introduce new students to our world.

As we interpret in a Polish-English language pair it will be rather difficult for us to discuss mistakes and word choice during our practice interpreting with students who do not know Polish, but we can always work something out together if you are willing to try :)

of the University of Gdańsk provides an opportunity to learn about entomology in the field as well as in the laboratory – with material preparation and species identification.

Our main projects at the moment are insect biodiversity and study of presence and conservation of wing interference patterns (WIP's) of various insect taxa. We also provide opportunities to start new, in-house projects on entomological topics, as well as to participate in pop-science events not only in our Department and University.

Pomorania Student Club

works for the development of Kashubian language and culture. Our actions are mostly directed to secondary school students, however, we take part in a lot of activities promoting the Kashubian area. Not only will you spend some nice time here, but also possess many organisational skills.

We are The Club of Chemical Business and our main goal is sharing chemical and economical knowledge between students of Chemical Business degree at the Faculty of Chemistry. We take great effort to propagate chemical knowledge by organising shows and workshops for elementary and high school students. We also provide our members with possibilities of expanding their knowledge by going to various chemical conferences.

Hello everyone!

We are Middle Circle (Koło Środka), a student activity group, open for anyone interested in Chinese culture. Our activities include teaching and playing mahjong together, Chinese text translation, and organising events related to Chinese festivals. Feel free to come visit us!

Scientific Circle of Historians at the University of Gdańsk is a group of young people who are keen on history and are interested in conducting research in the field. If you would like to meet other students sharing similar hobby, to participate in conferences or extra classes, to visit amusing places, feel free to contact us.

The Section for Asian Studies of The Political Science Club “Politicus”

is a students’ research group focusing on Asian politics and society. Our activities include academic work as well as promoting and celebrating Asian culture.

Climate and weather

The local climate is significantly influenced by the Baltic Sea. During the summer, prevailing winds come from the west and northwest. Conversely, in the winter, winds predominantly arrive from the mainland. The winter season also brings storm winds from the sea, carrying a substantial amount of moisture to the urban area. This phenomenon results in a perceived temperature much colder than the actual reading on the thermometer.

Gdańsk experiences pleasant and partially cloudy summers, while its winters are extended, marked by intense cold, snowfall, strong winds, and predominantly cloudy skies.

According to the tourism score, the optimal period for engaging in warm-weather activities in Gdańsk is from late June to late August.

Public transport

Public Transport in Gdańsk and Tricity is very well organised. The main means of transport in Tricity is the SKM railway, which connects all three cities and is the fastest means of transport. Additionally, trams and buses are also available. Public transport operates both day and night, weekends and holidays. If you are a student, you can use your student ID to get a discount on tickets.

Timetable for public transport as well as information about tickets are available online:

Gdynia: zkm.gdynia.pl (Trolleybus and Buses)

Gdańsk: ztm.gda.pl (Trams and Buses)

Tricity: skm.pkp.pl (Commuter rail)

Both Gdańsk and Gdynia transport systems connect with Sopot!

Timetable is also connected within Google Maps navigation.

There are different tickets for trams and buses and different tickets for commuter rail. You may buy long-term tickets (monthly tickets and semester tickets). You may also encode a long-term ticket on your electronic student ID card.

Water tram (pol. Tramwaj Wodny) (connections to seaside resorts) - water trams travel between stops in Tricity and on Hel Peninsula. Stops are: Kościuszko Square in Gdynia, The Molo (Pier) in Sopot, and the Motława in Gdańsk .

Cultural life

Gdańsk

The capital of the Pomeranian region, a city of more than a thousand years of tradition, the symbolic spot where the Second World War started. When you visit Gdańsk, you'll see right away the beauty of the architecture of the Old Town and you'll be able to enjoy a wide range of culture, from museums to lots of monuments, but Gdańsk is not just about history. It's a city throbbing with life. You'll find here all the entertainment and good food that come with any large city.

What's worth seeing?

ZOO – come to see the Tricity’s zoo. On its 120ha site, you’ll be able to look at exotic animals from all the continents of the world.

Oliwa Park – the last of what was once a whole set of city parks. Here you’ll find peace and quiet in one of the avenues, Botanical Garden or in the Palm House.

Oliwa Cathedral – founded in 1186. Oliwa Cathedral in Gdańsk has undergone many changes in the course of its existence. It’s a combination of styles from Romanesque through Gothic and Baroque right up to the modern. It’s the longest church in Poland.

St. Mary’s Basilica (pol Bazylika Mariacka) – this is the largest brick Gothic place of worship in Europe.

Arthur’s Court (pol. Dwór Artusa) – built between 1476 and 1481, it was a place of meetings, banquets, weddings. Plays were performed here, too. From 1742, it was a stock-exchange.

Long Market (pol. Długi Targ) – walking through Długi Targ, you feel the unique atmosphere of Gdańsk’s Main Town with its distinctive architecture and its wide range of entertainment and fine dining. Długa Street, which runs perpendicularly to the Motława River from the Golden Gate to the Green Gate, is a must-see.

The Neptune Fountain – this symbol of Gdańsk stands in the Main Town. The statue of the King of the Sea in its middle dates from

The Town Hall (pol. Ratusz) – there’s no precise date for the building of the Town Hall., but it’s estimated that the first phase of the construction took place in the years 1379-1382.

At present, it holds the headquarters of the City of Gdańsk Historical Museum.

Westerplatte – where the Second World War started. You can visit the cemetery of the Polish soldiers who died here in 1939, Guardhouse no. 1, the ruins of the barracks, Guardhouse no. 3, a tank, and the Westerplatte Monument that was built after the War.

European Solidarity Center – the Center celebrates the people and the ideas that helped to build civil society in Poland. It’s a meeting place for people who care about the future of the world. It’s a venue for conferences, debates, projects for children and young people, plays, and film shows. It also offers a home for NGOs that work for the common good, for freedom and human rights.

The Museum of the Second World War – the museum spreads knowledge and cultivates the memory of that period in the history of the world.

Sopot

Sopot is the smallest of the Three Cities, but no less important for that. Sopot is a well-known seaside resort and spa. It never sleeps. It's a place where artists, university people, and tourists meet. Here you'll find exhibitions, concerts, festivals, conferences, and international conventions. It's famous for its wonderful beaches, its streets full of cafes, restaurants, clubs, and art galleries. It offers a breath of fresh air after a hard day in the city.

What's worth seeing?

Monte Cassino Street (commonly known as 'Monciak')

– Sopot's flagship street is one of the places most visited by tourists. Here you'll find many restaurants, pubs, clubs, and cafes.

Pier (pol. Molo) – at 315 m, it's the longest wooden pier in Europe.

The Opera in the Woods (pol. Opera Leśna) – a summer amphitheatre, covering 4 hectares, in which big Sopot concerts and festivals are held.

The Horse Race Track (pol. Hipodrom) – most days it's a place of peace and greenery, and then it bursts into throbbing life when there are riding competitions, exhibitions, and other large-scale events.

Gdynia

As opposed to Gdańsk, Gdynia is a relatively young city, but it is a very modern and rapidly developing one. Its modern architecture and its maritime character are distinctive. The city is throbbing with life and has many tourist attractions, such as its lovely promenades, marinas that organise boat trips, and great sea views from its nearby cliffs.

What's worth seeing?

The Sea Boulevard (pol. Bulwar nadmorski) – the Boulevard is the most popular place for a stroll in Gdynia. It's 1.5 km long and is great for just walking or for running, roller skating, or biking.

Kościuszko Square – tourists love to stroll here. It's full of different kinds of entertainment and eating places. You can visit ORP Błyskawica, a Second World War warship that's moored here. You can also see the tall-masted sailing ship Dar Pomorza. Big outdoor events are held here.

The Marina – you can really enjoy the sea here. You can take trips on the fast motor boats or sailboats, and you can gaze at the luxury yachts moored in the marina.

The Gdynia Aquarium – located on Kościuszko Square, the Gdynia Aquarium gives you a chance to see exotic fish from all over the world here in the centre of the city. The Aquarium has an extensive education programme for those who want to know more about sea life.

The Cliff Walk – if you want to get some great views, take a walk along the Gdynia Cliffs. The path runs from the pier in Orłowo to the Sea Boulevard in the centre of Gdynia.

The Pier in Orłowo – it measures 180 m and it's open the whole year free of charge.

Infobox – an information point where you can find out all about Gdynia, take part in cultural events, and take in great views from the viewing point.

Emigration Museum – the museum is dedicated to the history of Polish emigration to all continents.

Experyment Science Centre – is a place with interactive exhibitions and a space for creative experimentation for people of all ages. The centre encourages people to discover and learn about the world.

Sports & activities

If you prefer to spend your time actively, Tricity offers plenty of options. You can explore beautiful parks like Oliwa Park or Reagan Park in Gdańsk, North Park in Sopot, and Kolibki Park in Gdynia. In addition, there are swimming pools and aqua parks in the region, such as the Aquapark in Sopot, Aquapark in Reda, and pools in Gdańsk-Chełm or Gdańsk-Osowa. For sports lovers, Tricity offers a wide range of activities, including walking, jogging, cycling & rollerblading paths, skateboarding parks, shooting ranges, go-kart tracks, climbing walls, and trampoline parks.

In addition to these activities, there are places outside of Tricity that are worth visiting. The Kashubian region, for example, is famous for its majestic forests and lakes, and in winter, ski tracks are popular with the public, with the most well-known one being in Wieżyca. In the summer, the Hel Peninsula is a great place to discover watersports.

Events

Throughout the year, there are several recurring events that take place in the area. In the summertime, it's a season of music events, with the Open'er festival being one of the most popular due to world-renowned artists performing for four days. The Top of the Top Sopot Festival at Forest Opera is also an event worth attending.

Every August, Gdańsk's Old Town hosts the St. Dominic's Fair, a tradition that dates back to 1260. The fair brings together merchants from all over Poland; the visitors can admire and purchase antiques and handicrafts or watch various artistic performances. Gdańsk is also known for its Christmas Fair, which usually starts at the beginning of December.

First steps in Poland

Poland is a country in Central Europe, with Warsaw as its capital city. With a population of ~38 million people, Poland is a beautiful country with diverse landscapes including mountains, green areas, and the sea. Additionally, it has a rich and complex history and is a home to numerous museums, galleries, theatres, and operas. Polish cuisine is also renowned and includes dishes such as dumplings, noodles, meat, and potato dishes.

Language

Polish is the official language of Poland and it is estimated that it is spoken by ~44 million people worldwide. It belongs to the West Slavic group of languages, based on the Latin script, and shares linguistic ties with Czech and Slovak. The Polish alphabet comprises 32 letters, including diacritics that modify the pronunciation of letters. While learning Polish might seem challenging due to its complex grammar and unique sounds, mastering this beautiful and rich language can be rewarding for both personal and professional purposes.

If you are interested in learning Polish during your stay in Poland, you can enrol in a course offered by the Academic Centre of Polish Language and Culture for Foreigners at the University of Gdańsk. For more information, see page 51.

Currency

The currency in Poland is the Polish złoty (it can be translated as 'a piece of gold'). In the foreign exchange market, the Polish currency, known as złoty (abbreviation: zł), is symbolised as PLN. One złoty is further subdivided into 100 smaller units called grosz (abbreviation: gr). Banknotes in circulation include 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 PLN, while coins come in denominations of 1, 2, and 5 złoty and 1, 2, 5, 10, 20, 50 grosz.

Currency rates change very quickly. The best option is to check the actual one on the Polish National Bank website: <https://nbp.pl/en/>.

Banking

Having an account in a Polish bank definitely makes life easier. At the moment, most banks offer accounts that are free of charge if some condition is met (e.g. use of the card once a month, regular receipts). Many Polish banks offer special accounts tailored to students. These accounts often come with benefits such as reduced fees, higher ATM withdrawal limits. Be sure to inquire about student account options when setting up your Polish bank account. Most of the bank employees also speak English, which is undoubtedly easier for a foreigner.

Bankomat – ATM - you can withdraw money from it; most of them have explanations in English and a few other languages.

Kantor – a money exchange office; it is usually more convenient and has better rates than a bank .

Cheques are virtually obsolete in Poland, and it would likely raise eyebrows if you attempted to make a payment using this method. You may be kindly encouraged to opt for an alternative payment method.

Airports

There are 15 airports located throughout Poland, with the main port being Frederic Chopin Airport in Warsaw. It is through this airport that most international connections are made, especially outside of Europe.

There is a list of all the airports in Poland:

Polish phone number

We strongly advise you to purchase a Polish SIM card.

Why?

Because it is useful during an emergency, scheduling doctor's appointments, ordering taxis or food delivery, and many more. It will make your everyday life easier!

How?

Option 1. Buy the SIM card from a shop or gas station:

- Bring your passport or ID,
- Register it in the shop or online.

Option 2. Choose a Polish provider online & follow the required steps.

Option 3. Ask your Mentor for advice.

Polish people, what are we known for?

Hard-working

'No work, no cake,' goes the old Polish saying.

Hospitality

'A guest in the house, God in the house.' Hospitality is a major part of Polish culture. It is common for Poles to celebrate and meet at homes and, on many occasions, hosts prepare home-made meals. A remarkable showcase of Polish hospitality occurs during Christmas and Easter festivities.

Delicious food

Please indulge yourself with amazing Polish meals: pierogi (with potatoes, cheese, fruits, mushrooms, or meats), tripe, bigos (sometimes translated to 'a hunter's stew'), salty brine, sauerkraut, curd, buttermilk, kefir, all kinds of barszcz ('borscht') and much more...

Don't be discouraged either by a name or the looks of some food – just try it and you'll always want to come back and eat more!

Complaining

When you ask Poles how they are, anticipate an honest response rather than a customary 'fine,' regardless of the situation. You could hear about bad health, horrible traffic, unsatisfying jobs, annoying bosses and more... But don't worry! We love to laugh at it too! There are no better jokes than jokes about Poles made by... Poles themselves!

Traditions

Poles take great pride in the cultural heritage they carry with them. From the cherished Christmas Eve ritual with its special dishes and family gatherings, to symbolic gestures like exchanging bread and salt, Poles firmly hold onto their traditions and deeply respect them.

Passing these traditions down from generation to generation is how Poles maintain a connection to their cultural identity and secure what makes them great.

That's why nurturing Polish culture is something Poles understand instinctively, celebrating it together during holidays and other memorable occasions when friends and family come together.
